Pirates buried their gold on distant, desolate islands. Most of us hide our emergency cash somewhere in the house, but like Blackbeard and Captain Kidd, we worry that a determined thief will steal it. If you're looking for someplace less obvious than a hollowed-out book to store your money, try some of these ideas

- Air ducts. Most criminals won't go to the trouble of unscrewing an AC vent cover looking for cash.
- Houseplants. You can roll up a wad of cash in a plastic prescription bottle and bury it in the dirt with your azaleas.
- Litter box. Tape a plastic bag underneath your kitty's special box.
- Toy boxes. Because most small children don't keep much cash, thieves generally won't think to search their rooms.
